Making a purely vegetable Medicine

1875—1919

In 1875, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., gathered and dried the roots and herbs which she used in the now famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, from the fields and forests, then steeped them on her kitchen stove and filled a few bottles at a time, to alleviate the suffering of her women friends, neighbors and acquaintances, and the success of this medicine was unparalleled.

After 44 Years

These illustrations show the present method by which vast quantities of this well-known remedy are produced and from exactly the same kind of roots and herbs used by Mrs. Pinkham in the beginning.

First—The various herbs used are of the finest quality, and gathered at the time their medicinal strength is the highest.

Second—After the herbs are properly ground and mixed, the medicinal properties are extracted by soaking in large stone jars, covered.

Third—Then the extract is drained through percolators, acting somewhat like a coffee percolator.

Fourth—To insure a thoroughly pure medicine, it is carefully pasteurized by heat in special apparatus, and bottled hot.

Throughout the entire process, from the crude herb to the finished medicine in bottle, cleanliness and exactness are the watch-words.

The Reliability of Testimonials Guaranteed

The testimonials published by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company come to them unsolicited. Never knowingly have they published an untruthful letter, never is a letter published without the written consent of the writer. The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness. It is easy to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; and their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

Electric light bills will take a jump next week following the setting back of the clocks by an hour next Sunday. This doesn't mean an advance in rates, but longer bills because of the extra consequent greater use of lights. At 5 o'clock next week darkness will have fallen.

Another evidence of Putnam's wonderful prosperity is the fact that the deposits at the Putnam Savings bank have increased $250,000 during the past year, this splendid showing by the institution, of which Daniel J. Byrne is treasurer, being an added testimonial to the fact that people of Putnam and surrounding towns are doing very nicely financially, notwithstanding the high cost of living and other irritating adjuncts to the post-war period.

The local owner of a passenger carrying motor bus found himself in difficulties when confronted by the owner of a line of similar vehicles operating between this city and Danvers. Though it's still a bit early, one hears of candidates for the office to be filled when the Danvers city election is held here in December. The city election this year promises to be a mighty interesting.

DANIELSON

There is town-wide interest in the fact that Miss May Bailey of Worcester has given to the Connecticut Historical society numerous copies and extracts from town records of marriages from the dates of settlement to and including the year 1800, compiled by her father, the late Frederick W. Bailey, of Worcester, who published seven volumes of the early marriages. The towns, in part, from which records copies are made are Killingly, Plainfield, Colchester, Coventry, Scotland, Tolland, New London, Haddam, Clinton, East Haddam, Middletown and Willington.

Miss Florence S. M. Croft of Hartford, formerly of Danielson, regent of the American Revolution, is arranging plans for the representation of that chapter at the twenty-sixth general meeting of the Connecticut Society of the First Continental Congress, at the First Congregational church of Christ, Court street, Middletown, Thursday, October 30.

A big motor truck owned by Frank A. Davis was badly damaged Monday morning at about six o'clock when it was struck broadside by a southbound trolley car. No one was injured in the accident, which occurred on the Danville road at the point where a driveway comes down a rather steep incline out of the Davis homestead yard and across the trolley tracks, which at that point run along the easterly edge of the highway. It was stated after the accident that the motor truck had become stalled broadside across the track and that before the oncoming trolley could be stopped it crashed into the machine. There were no passengers in the trolley car, which had just come down from the carhouse at Danville and was in charge of Conductor Riekey and Motorman Knight.

Hon. F. A. Jacobs will be host here in Danielson during the latter part of November to the members of the Connecticut senate of 1902, in which he served as the senator from what is now the twenty-eighth senatorial district.

The senate of 1902 is the only one whose members hold an annual reunion. The custom is for the senators to meet as guests of one of their number and this year the honor fell to Mr. Jacobs.

The senators who sat together in the session of 1902 have a reason for holding annual reunions in the fact that the senate was the last which had a membership of 24. Since 1902, the membership has been 25. There was something unusual in the fact that the senate of 1902 was without exception made up of members who had no previous senatorial experience.

Henry Roberts, who was lieutenant governor, presided over the deliberations of the senate and Rollin S. Woodruff of New Haven who was the president pro tempore were afterwards governors of the state, the latter succeeding the former in the executive office. Senator Frank L. Wilcox, afterwards major of the first regiment, was the chairman of the St. Louis exposition commission, and Senator Alexander T. Patterson of Simsbury was a member of the state army commission. Senator Charles Cook of Danville was for two years engaged in the construction of the national state library and supreme court building and the remodeling of the state capitol.

Other members of the senate of 1902 were Judge James F. Walsh, speaker of the house during the 1913 session of the legislature and who has the backing of the republican organization as candidate for governor at next year's election; William Bailey of Bethel, now republican state auditor; Thomas F. Noone, state at large for Tolland county; Sheriff Charles A. Gates, Willington, where he is also mayor; Senator Frederick F. Fessenden of Torrington and Archibald McNeil, Sr. of Bridgeport.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss May T. Wetherell of Providence, daughter of Vernon T. Wetherell of Danielson, to George H. Crocker of Providence. Both Miss Wetherell and Mr. Crocker are well known in Danielson. Miss Wetherell having spent the greater part of her life here and Mr. Crocker traveled through this section for years as a representative of a widely known salt distributing concern.

Agent Obadiah Butler of the Connecticut Mills company is in New York, where he recently underwent a minor surgical operation. He is expected to return to Danielson during the present week.

There was an anniversary requiem high mass at St. James church Monday for Mrs. Leslie Murray, whose death was caused by influenza last fall. Mr. Murray came here from Providence to attend the service, with other relatives.

An adjournment was granted in the town court Monday morning in the case of the state vs. Archie Ennis, who was charged with not stopping last Wednesday evening when the machine in which he and his wife were riding struck a horse, which was in the state highway at Attawaugan. The

PUTNAM

After a hearing before Justice Charles M. Peggion in the town of Woodstock Monday morning, probable cause was found for holding in Fowling for trial at the next term of the Windham county superior court hearing criminal jurisdiction, his bonds being fixed at $1,000. Friday last Fowling was arrested on charges of drunkenness and breach of the peace. Developments during Saturday led to the dropping of the charges against him and one alleging that he had abused his niece, Edith Harris, a girl who will not reach her fourteenth birthday until next April, was included when the time came for the hearing on Monday morning.

Fowling was represented by Attorney J. F. Carpenter of this city and pleaded not guilty to the serious charge against him.

The Harris girl testified that Fowling, who is her mother's brother, had been indulging in improper relations with her for about a year and that she acquiesced to his proposals because she feared him. At the present time the little girl's condition is in doubt. Fowling has been a resident of the town of Woodstock for about ten years.

Records at the office of Town Clerk Plagg show another important real estate transaction to be added to the horse, owned by Michael Grimsbaw of Attawaugan.

With the hunting season only a few days old, it is evident that there must be some provisions if violations of the game law are to be stamped out at least diminished. Proceeding against Arthur G. Hill already has a complaint against a man for being out with a gun on Sunday and a court case is promised to be a result of the incident.

C. H. Pellett was in Boston Monday on a business trip. At Holy Cross cemetery, Maple street, new receiving vault octagonal in shape and constructed of concrete blocks is nearing completion. The exterior of the structure is embellished with concrete pillars of ornate design. The new structure occupies a central position in the cemetery and is being completed before winter sets in.

Arrival of a trolley freight car Monday afternoon—the first in here from Providence in more than three months—was a welcome sight to shippers who used this line here and in surrounding villages.

The Pellett Motor Bus service is now maintaining regularly a 45-minute service between Danielson and Putnam and between Danielson, Brooklyn, Waterbury, Central, Filling and Moosup.

Andrey Waclewsky was taken into custody Monday by Chief John McFarland and this morning will be taken to the town court to face a charge of theft, the specific allegation being that he took a trunk containing a valuable watch and the property of Edward Hashchuk. An additional charge may be preferred against him before he is brought into court.

Rev. Walter B. Williams, pastor of the Westfield Congregational church, left here Monday morning, en route to Grand Rapids, Mich., to attend the national council of the United Methodist churches of the United States. The sessions open today and will continue until the 29th.

Bentley Ackroyd, 105 Laurel Hill avenue, Providence, had his wrist sprained and his wife strained her shoulder Sunday afternoon when the Ford touring car in which they were enjoying a spin overturned on what is known as Shippee hill, on the state road between Putnam and Attawaugan. The accident was investigated by Deputy Inspector R. C. Yeungman, who stated that the Ackroyd machine was practically forced out of the highway and on a bordering embankment by the rear of a big car that was "hogging" the road. When the Ackroyd car came down off the embankment the machine was out of control and turned turtle.

Beginning this (Tuesday) evening there is to be a nightly series of special evangelistic meetings at the Union Baptist church in East Killingly during the present week. Rev. E. E. Call of Boston is the evangelist who will preach the sermons, which are expected to create wide-spread interest and further awaken the religious fervor of people of all sections of the town.

On each evening of the week there will be special delegations representing different communities in Killingly at the service. Rev. Charles Bruce Elder, the pastor, announced Monday afternoon. This (Tuesday) evening will be Danielson night. On Wednesday evening Putnam churches will send delegations. Thursday will be Danville-Goodyear night and Friday has been designated as Attawaugan-Ballouville night. Saturday night is reserved for a general representation of all communities and at that time Rev. E. Call will deliver an especially powerful sermon, illustrated by stereopticon on the Maze of the Underworld. Next Sunday three services are scheduled at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. At the morning service the evangelist's subject will be "The Swinging Trolley." At the evening service the subject will be "Tomorrow." For Monday evening of next week a union fellowship meeting will be held, and for this gathering a special musical program has been completed. During this week there will be a meeting with Bible reading each afternoon at 3 o'clock, the general subject being Steps in the Life of Faith.

Michael Head, of Academy street, received word Monday of the death of his brother, John, of Providence in which city he had been engaged in business for a number of years. Mr. Head and members of his family will go to Providence to attend the funeral.

MOOSUP

A wedding took place at 3 o'clock Tuesday, Oct. 14, at Kimbrough, the home of Barker and Mrs. Everett R. Salisbury, when Edwin A., second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury, was united in marriage with Almon C. Colvin, Jr., son of Almon and Mary Colvin, of Moosup.

The bride, who wore a gown of heavy tulle with overdress of georgette tulle, heavily headed with a veil crowned with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of bride roses and ferns. She walked down the wedding stairs with her father, who gave her in marriage, through the hall, as the wedding march was played by her niece, Miss Hope Dundas. The groom was awaiting them in the parlor, where, under a beautiful arch and large wedding bell, the ceremony was performed by Rev. C. S. Nightingale, pastor of the Baptist church.

After the reception given Mr. and Mrs. Colvin, the streamers attached to the wedding bell were pulled by the bride's brother, Edward, and cousin, Roger Salisbury, and this released the rose petals contained in the bell, showing the bride and groom with those delicate and beautiful emblems.

Lunch was served. Many beautiful and costly remembrances to the bride were on view in the sitting room and den upstairs, and were greatly admired.

Mr. and Mrs. Colvin took a train at Washington, R. I., for their wedding journey.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Dundas and three children, Hope Evelyn and Robert, of West Barrington, R. I.; Mrs. Henry Leonard, Valley Falls, Mr. and Mrs. C. P.
